UC College of Medicine presents Symposium on Cancer Therapeutics and Resistance Mechanisms

Friday, October 29, 2021

10:00 AM	Welcome and Introductory Remarks Pier Paulo Scaglioni, MD, Director, Hematology-Oncology Jun-Lin Guan, PhD, Chair, Cancer Biology Syed A. Ahmad, Co-Director, UC Cancer Center
SESSION I
10:10 AM	"Blocking Epigenetic Plasticity to Prevent Therapeutic Resistance"" Elisabeth Martinez, PhD Associate Professor, Distinguished Professorship in Biomedical Science, Department of Pharmacology, Hamon Center for Therapeutic Oncology Research, UT Southwestern Medical Center
11:05 AM	"Fueling T Cells: Immunometabolic Targets in Cancer and Inflammation" Jeffrey C. Rathmell, PhD MPI Associate Director, Cornelius Vanderbilt Professor of Immunobiology, Director, Vanderbilt Center for Immunobiology
12:00 PM	LUNCH BREAK (on own)
SESSION II
1:00 PM	" Reprogramming in Renal Cell Carcinoma" W. Kimryn Rathmell, MD, PhD Chair, Department of Medicine, Physician in Chief, Vanderbilt Hospital, Deputy Director for Research Integration and Career Development, Vanderbilt-Ingram Cancer Center, Professor of Biochemistry, Vanderbilt University
1:55 PM	John C. Byrd, MD Chair, Department of Internal Medicine, University of Cincinnati
2:50 PM	Concluding remarks Vladimir Bogdanov, PhD David Plas, PhD Davendra Sohal, MD Susan Waltz, PhD
SESSION III
3:00 PM	Concurrent Breakout Sessions (RSVP required) Session 1 Keynote speakers with Trainee discussants Session 2 Keynote speakers with Faculty discussants
3:45 PM	Session 1 Keynote speakers with Faculty discussants Session 2 Keynote speakers with Trainee discussants
4:30 PM	Event concludes